Overview

Create a striking and attractive interface for the view of the general public of a clothing catalog for the company with which we will be working during this period.

Problem

Our user does not have a great scope in his clothing sales by catalog venture since he cannot cope with physical cotalogos, preventing the scope of his venture

Background

We will have a clothing catalog in which customers have a good impression at first sight. The catalog must be friendly to the eye.

It will have simple actions to facilitate the interaction between the client and the company.

We will carry out this entire process until it becomes a colorful interface for all audiences.
